DETAILED ACTION

Priority

Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Specification

Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

~~The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information~~ given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because phrase "the present invention" and word "means" appear in the abstract. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Art Unit: 3636

Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Wieclawski (#6,273,511).

Wieclawski shows a vehicle seat comprising a headrest supporting frame having a lower end secured to a recliner (18) and an upper end provided with an insertion hole, a seatback frame (10) elastically connected to the headrest supporting frame, a plurality of elastic connecting means (22) that elastically couple the headrest supporting frame and the seatback frame, and a headrest adjusting bar that adjusts the height of a headrest.

With claim 2, the elastic connecting means is at least one tension spring having a sufficient stiffness to solidly support the back of a seat occupant in a normal state.

With claim 3, the upper end of the headrest adjusting bar is connected to a frame inside the headrest, and the lower end of the headrest adjusting bar is adjustably inserted into the inserting hole formed at the upper end of the headrest supporting frame.

With claim 5, left and right upright members are provided. Adjustment members are mounted atop each of the upright members to define adjusting holes, and headrest adjustment bar is received in the holes.

With claim 6, the elastic connectors comprise tension springs.

Art Unit: 3636

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Ronnhult et al, Charras et al, Nakane et al, Schonauer, Frusti et al, and Wiklund are cited as showing similar types of vehicle seat.
